Strategies for Managing Dr Jennie

All people are not the same. A management strategy that is very effective with one person may be disastrous with another. Trial and error learning about which strategies are effective with which person can be very time-consuming and expensive both in the dollar cost as well as the emotional cost. This section provides a starting point for developing strategies based on Dr Jennie's natural behavioral tendencies. By reviewing and discussing the strategies listed for each key management activity, you can develop an accurate, effective plan for managing Dr Jennie.

NOTE: The combination of behavioral tendencies that make up Dr Jennie's profile may appear to be contradictory due to the conflicting nature of the tendencies. Many people with this combination find that some of the information listed more accurately describes them than the rest of the information. Upon closer examination, they find the other information represents behavior that is potential but not used routinely.

Developing

- Make her productive quickly
- Show her the simplest, quickest, most practical way to get results
- Emphasize the key details necessary to get results
- Define clearly the limits of her authority
- Demonstrate in a logical manner, explaining the rationale for each procedure
- Check for understanding at key points
- Provide time to process the information and practice skill on her own
- Be available to respond to questions and to provide additional explanations
- Define time limits for developing adequate skill, rather than perfect mastery

Motivating

- Provide opportunities to work independently
- Allow her to direct the efforts of others
- Offer options for achieving goals
- Provide challenges, opportunities to "win"
- Create opportunities for her to demonstrate her expertise
- Support her efforts at creating quality results
- Provide situations where logical and systematic efforts will contribute to long-term success

Complimenting

- Use brief, direct statements, focusing on achievements, results, and leadership abilities
- Use concise, accurate, specific statements (preferably in private) about her competence, use of logic, efficiency, and precision

Counseling

- Focus on obstacles to achieving results and how to eliminate them
- Present needed changes in terms of impact on results and consequences
- Request solutions from her
- Take time to reduce potential defensiveness by acknowledging areas of competence
- Specify needed change, explaining why the change is necessary and solicit her thoughts about the solution
- Provide her with the opportunity to think about the situation and develop a strategy before committing to a specific course of action

Problem-Solving

- Tends to take a practical, results-oriented approach, preferring simple, easy-to-implement, immediate solutions
- May need to be directed toward considering the long-term consequences
- May need coaching in handling complex problems due to a natural tendency to over-simplify in a rush for immediate results
- Tends to prefer an analytical, systematic approach to solving problems, considering all contributing factors and possible consequences
- May need to be coached on alternate problem-solving techniques for problems that need more immediate solutions
- Tends to want to find a perfect solution
- May need help in developing a functional solution, rather than a perfect solution

Delegating

- Tell her what result you need and by when; let her determine how to get it done
- Specify clearly the limits of authority and available resources, allowing autonomy within those limits
- Provide logical, accurate, precise descriptions of performance expectations, including standards for quality
- Explain why the assignment is being done and how it is necessary to the overall operation
- Provide opportunities to discuss alternate ways of completing the assignment, determining what resources are available

Correcting

- Be firm and direct, specifying the desired result as well as current level of performance
- Direct the discussion to what she is going to do to eliminate the gap in performance
- Define time limits for improvements and state consequences clearly
- Tends to become defensive when her performance is criticized
- Stick to a specific, factual discussion of what the current results are and what performance is necessary
- Allow time for her to create and report a plan for improving her performance
- Close discussion by clarifying and getting agreement on what the improvement will be and by when
- Set a date for formally reviewing progress

Decision-Making

- Tends to be a quick decision-maker
- May need coaching on taking time to gather sufficient information and considering possible consequences before making decisions
- Point out benefits in taking more time in terms of improved results

- Tends to approach decision-making in an analytical manner, calculating risks and potential payoffs
- May want time to gather information
- Discuss appropriate amount of time to spend in analysis; set time for decision
- Can get bogged down in "what-if" concerns
- May need reassurances of what the personal consequences of being wrong will be

Communicating

- Prefers direct, to the point, communications without a lot of time spent on social chatter
- Be prepared to listen to her ideas before moving on to other topics
- State areas of shared agreement before moving into other areas of less agreement
- Tends to practice selective perception, only hearing and/or remembering that with which she agrees
- Check at end of discussion to make sure everything was heard and stored in memory by asking her to summarize and restate
- Tends to prefer communication to be formal and business-like, avoiding personal references and discussions
- State purpose for the communication up front, covering the topics in a logical, systematic manner
- May have difficulty storing information that conflicts with her perception of how things should be
- Check for points of disagreement or misunderstanding
- May aggressively question the information
- Respond to the questions with specific information in a non-defensive manner
- Tends to prefer to have time to process the information before responding
- Set time to meet and finalize the discussion
